

Figure 2.5.3-1 Responses to question: “Good relations with defense attorneys is important to individual success,” by research site

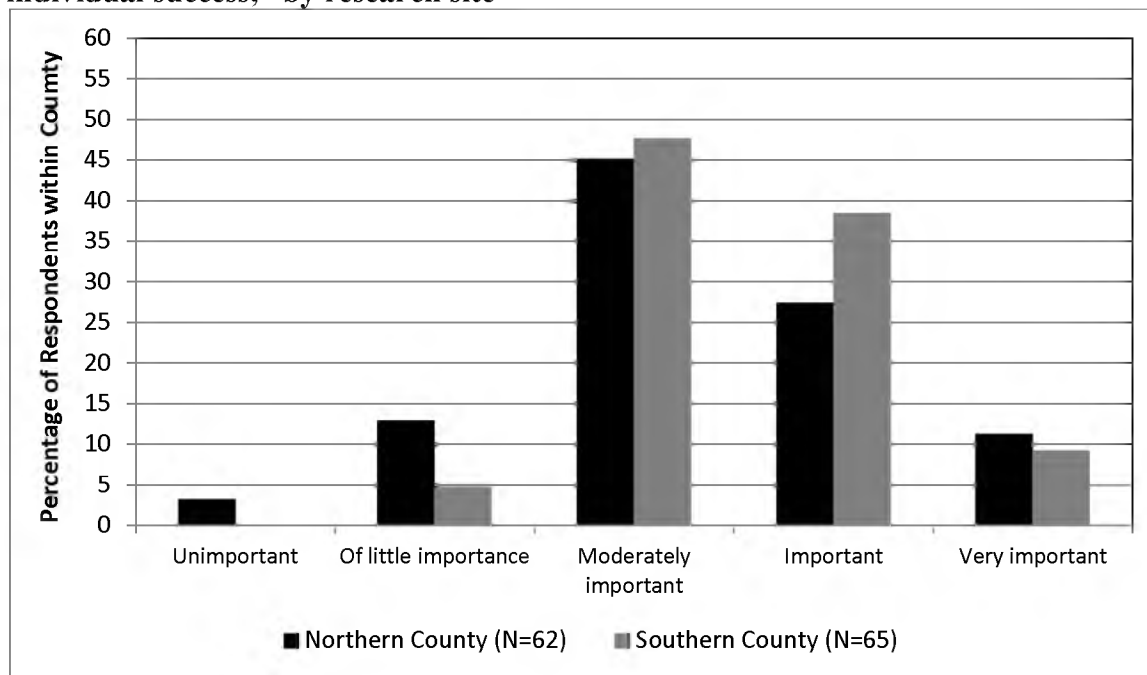

Figure 2.5.3-2 Responses to question: “Good relations with defense bar is important to office success,” by research site

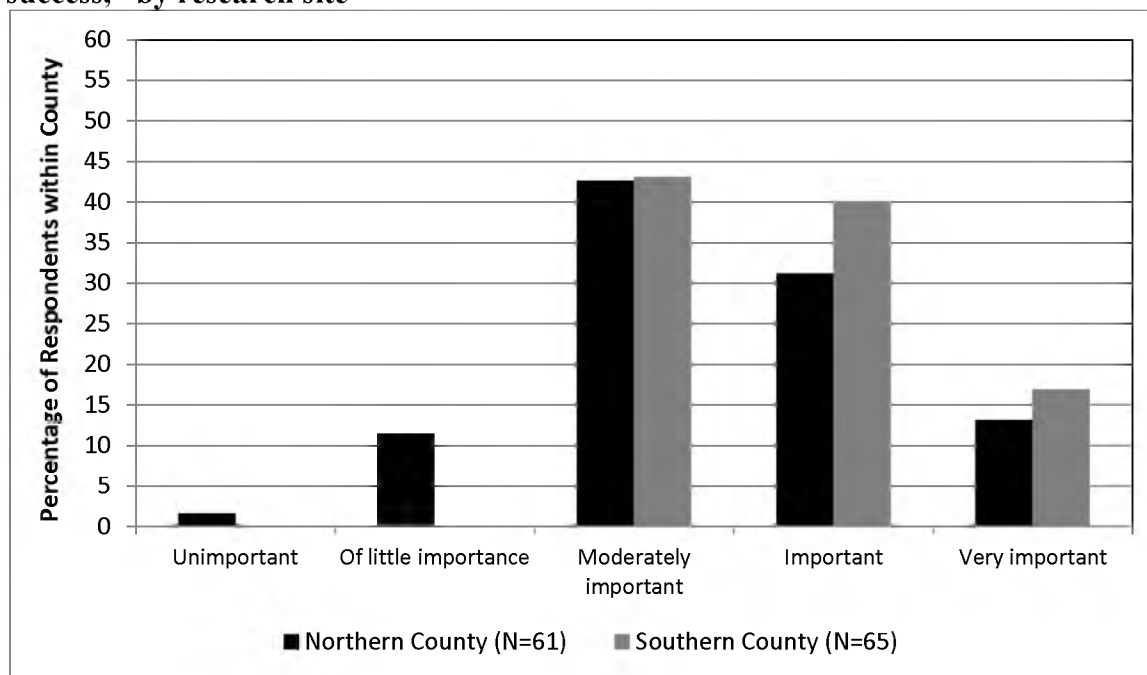

Figure 2.5.3-3 Responses to question: “I would consider altering my decisions for defense attorneys who I respect,” by research site

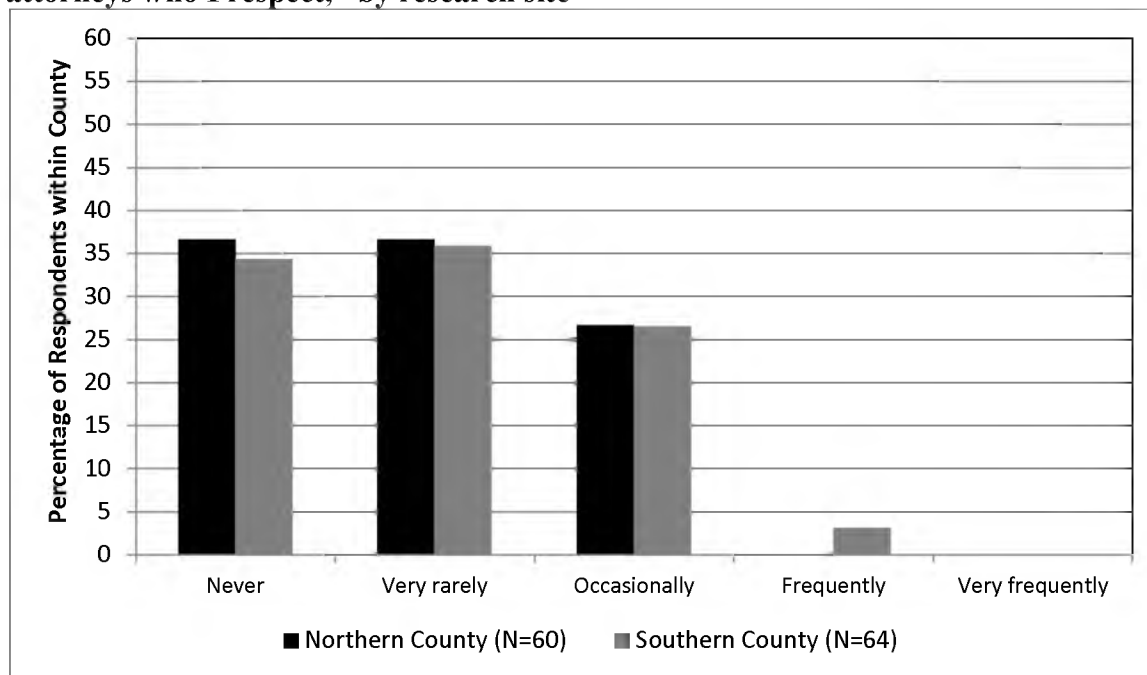

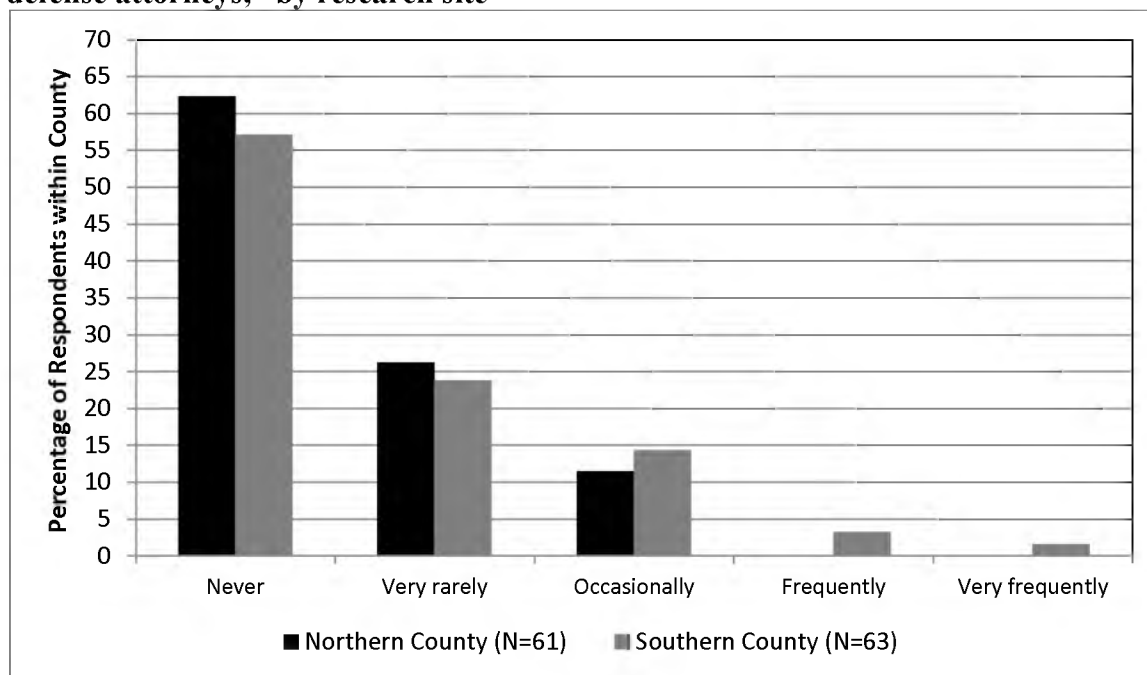

Figure 2.5.3-4 Responses to question: “I tailor my decisions to gain or to maintain the trust of defense attorneys,” by research site

Thus, prosecutors do not alter their decisions merely because of good relationships with defense attorneys. Rather, good relationships are valued for other reasons—because good working